CONTEXT AND BACKGROUND

CAOPA was created in 2010 in Banjul following annual meetings since 2000.

Despite its economic, social and cultural importance in Africa, artisanal fisheries remain the poor relation of development policies.

The plundering of resources, particularly through uncontrolled and unregulated illegal fishing, is currently threatening the survival of fishing communities and is one of the greatest threats to the future of generations.

Thus, aware of the issues in the sector and the urgency of the solutions and the urgency to be brought, a group was set up and took the initiative to move towards an African Confederation of Professional Organizations of Artisanal Fisheries
